What is APER?

Formed mostly by renewable energy producers, the Renewable Energy Producers Association

(APER, for its Spanish acronym) is a nonprofit membership organization working to develop and advance public policies and market development efforts that will help grow Puerto Rico's renewable energy economy, create jobs and expand economic opportunities. As a result of the hard work of its valuable members and partners, APER has managed to build an important foundation for the development and the future growth of the renewable energy industry on the island.

Aper has one main objective in mind: contribute to stabilize and reduce energy costs in Puerto Rico.

APER is also committed to seek viable solutions and alternatives that would finally give a big relief to consumers' pockets. This organization will also be available to help the Government find and implement those solutions and address the concerns that we all have regarding high energy costs, whether we refer to individual, business or government.

APER is a voice of authority contributing to the serious discussion of renewable energy.

Our organization members are subject matter experts with the human and technical resources who provide objective, accurate information and evidence that point to the issues that need addressing. At the same time, our organization provides solutions, the means to implement them and measure the effectiveness of their results.

APER promotes the growth and development of the industry in Puerto Rico, building educational content and a message to governmental leaders, heads of public agencies and the general public message around four key topics:

- ▶ Technical challenges and energy costs impact
- ▶ Compliance to state and federal laws
- ▶ Environmental and health impact
- ▶ Economic development and employment growth

Membership benefits:

Being a member of APER enables you to be part of an exclusive association that is always aiming to improve the quality of life of all citizens.

How?

- ▶ Make connections
- ▶ Influence policies and regulations
- ▶ Obtain valuable information
- ▶ Improve your profile and visibility
- ▶ Support APER's mission to ensure a sustainable renewable energy future in Puerto Rico.
- ▶ Policy development. The sheer quantity of new renewable energy policy means it can be almost impossible to keep on top of it all. APER policy specialists, who are often US and PR leaders in their respective fields, provide information to members on a regular basis to save them time and money. The APER's various technology sector groups shape our work.
- ▶ APER regularly lobbies Government, its departments, their agencies and the Legislature, through policy development and pro-active campaigns.
- ▶ Securing action. We work collaboratively with legislators, prestigious associations, think tanks and others to secure political support at all levels.
- ▶ Communications. Every month APER emails out a member-only report, containing must know information, key diary dates, a table detailing the status of the various consultations we will or will not be responding to and events we are running, participating in or have secured a members' discount for.
- ▶ Training. We will also run a program of highly successful, tailored, training workshops, offering an in-depth, very detailed session on key policy areas.

In other words, you can rest assured that we will never lose sight of you and your long term interests.
